

Workshop: 'Promoting greater risk literacy in the boardroom'

Strategy Effective boards appreciate risk as uncertainty, as an integral part of strategic planning about future direction.

Decisions made collectively need consensus and agreement, not prejudice or ignorance which produce inertia & risk aversion.

Culture the approach to risk will dictate policy and corporate behaviour, so needs to be well informed and consistent.

A half-day programme on 'risk literacy' offers observations on:

- Risk perception - how risk is viewed as threat or opportunity
- Risk attitude - how we respond to risk: by seeking or avoiding.
- Collective decisions - how group dynamics impact board decisions.
- Accepting uncertainty - recognising limitations on future certainty.
- Strategic risks - unseen & unspoken risks which boards often take.
- Risk literacy - benefits of improved appreciation of uncertainty.

Who should attend

Directors of Corporate Strategy, Policy or Long-range Planning
Directors of Business Development, Market Research and Foresight
Directors of Risk, Compliance or Business Assurance
Non-Executive Directors, Governors, Trustees and board advisors.

Date: 10 October 2017

Venue: Worshipful Company of Information Technologists, London, EC1A 7JN

Delegate fee: £350 plus VAT

Booking instructions: email to training@samiconsulting.co.uk